The Beginning of our Journey
As you twirl a piece of ribbon you don’t know which way it will turn, and this also applies to the changing paths and journeys we take in our lives.

A path traveled together is easier to walk than the path traveled alone. The people in my work symbolise the endless support of our family, friends, community and services ensuring Aboriginal people walk together.

The circles speak of the many people who have traveled in and out of our lives, they too taking the same path into our Journey of the Dreaming. All the while our Ancestors and family (represented by the auras) guide us there.

What is palliative care?
Palliative care strives to ensure quality of life for those who have a serious illness. It offers professional care, pain free living and support for the individual, family and/or carer.

Where can I access palliative care?
Palliative care can be offered in the comfort of:
- your home
- residential care
- a hospice or palliative care unit
- or in hospital.

Ask your Health Care Professional or Doctor to provide you with Information on this process.

During your journey your doctor/specialist may provide you with different treatments to help you with pain relief such as:
- tablets
- liquids
- patches
- natural therapies
- traditional bush medicine
- spiritual and cultural healing.

Please speak first with your doctor or care specialist about these options.

How does palliative care work?
Palliative care works through conversations that will help you and your family make decisions about your future health care, including your place of choice for care, and your cultural needs.

Did you know?
Palliative care professionals:
- are available any time of the day and night
- are specially trained to work in this area
- will come to you where you decide to access palliative care
- want to make your journey as comfortable as possible
- will support you where you want to be cared for
- will provide support to family and/or carers when needed.

You choose who is involved in your care. Such as:
- Doctors
- Aboriginal health workers
- Aboriginal health services
- Specialists
- Palliative Care Services
- Home carers.

This can be reviewed at any time.
