What do people who are diagnosed with a life-limiting illness think of life? Of death? How do they want to die? What gives them joy? Have they had dreams or visions about death, or the hereafter?

Pippa Wisher asked forty people who are in palliative care questions about life, dreams and dying. Photographing them while they answered these intimate and complex questions. The Dreamers reveals answers to the deeper questions of life by those living until they die.

This beautifully photographed soft cover coffee table book is available to order individually or in boxes of ten.

All prices quoted are inclusive of GST, postage and handling. Interstate and overseas enquiries welcome. Please contact us for postage charges.

For further information or to view the video on our website go to: http://www.pallcarevic.asn.au/families-patients/stories/the-dreamers/_____ book/s x PCV member price $ 25.00 / non-member price $ 30.00 = $ __________

_____ box of 10 x PCV member price $200.00 / non-member price $250.00 = $ __________

Contact Person: ....................................................................................................................................................................
Organisation: ........................................................................................................................................................................
Postal Address: ......................................................................................................................................................................

................................................................................................................................................................................................
Suburb: ........................................................................................................ State: ........... P/code: ........................
Email: .................................................................................................................. Phone: ............................................................

A tax invoice will be provided when your order is dispatched.

ISBN: 978 0 9925230 0 8